The MAC Smallbore Shooter of the Month

The MAC Smallbore Shooter of the Month is Dmitry Gordeychuk of John Jay College. Gordeychuk currently has a 3.418 in course, is on the Dean's List, and the Student-Athlete's Award List at John Jay. He is an NYPD police cadet and still has the time to arrange his busy schedule to have his match days free to attend events. His three matches of 525 on Oct 4, 528 on 10/18 and 541 on 10/25 give him an average 10 points over last year's smallbore average. All three matches were fired on the road.

Although his work and school schedules do not allow for him to practice on a regular basis he always tries his best to find any time to train. Coach Vincent Maiorino says "because of his commitment to the rifle team it forces him to work Sundays and holidays and allows little time for his family and friends. However, he never complains about this situation and does it without resentment or regret in order to be a part of our team." The MAC is proud to present the Smallbore Shooter of the Month to Dmitry Gordeychuk.

The MAC Air Rifle Shooter of the Month

The MAC Air Rifle Shooter of the Month is Deborah Booth of the USP Womens Team. Booth is currently a second year Doctorate of Pharmacy major and has been on Dean's List since she arrived at USP with a 3.65 GPA. Even though she is a second year student she has actually advanced well into her third year of course work. Her three match air rifle scores during October were 542 on 10/4, 532 on 10/5 at the MAC Invitational and a career high 566 the next weekend at home on 10/11.

She is a certified EMT and volunteers her time in the Philadelphia area in Media, PA and at home in North Jersey. Head Coach Paul Klinitas comments of Booth "14 months she never held an air rifle in her hands and she has progressed very well with the time available to her. She has recently purchased her own air rifle which certainly speaks to her long time commitment to the team and sport. No one practices more than Deborah and much like many very good shooters – she is never satisfied with her match or practice scores. The MAC is proud to present the Air Rifle Shooter of the Month of October to Deborah Booth.
