

JANUARY 2014

The MAC Smallbore Shooter of the Month

The MAC Smallbore Shooter of the Month is Jeffery Donovan of Canisius College.

Jeffery is a Freshman Philosophy Major, enrolled in the US Army ROTC program, at Canisius College. As of the 2/9/2014 MAC Statistics, Jeffery's Smallbore Rifle high score is 452 and he is averaging a 425. This February 1st score represents his personal best in smallbore.

Jeffery is Canisius' most improved shooter for the year. He even took the initiative and borrowed air rifles so that the team could compete in the Annual MIT BeanPot Tournament in Boston, MA. Jeffery also freely assumed a leadership role in taking over the Treasurer position for the Club with the departure of the previous treasurer in December.

Jeffery has taken the initiative to schedule the Rifle Club meetings and events for the rifle club and has prepared and submitted a Spring Club Budget Request to the Canisius Student Government. Jeffery is a natural leader and the person the Canisius rifle team looks for to get things done!

JANUARY 2014

The MAC Air Rifle Shooter of the Month

The MAC Air Rifle Shooter of the Month is Selina Dao of University of the Sciences.

Selina is a junior BioPhysics major at USciences. She posted scores of 530 vs Army on January 18, 550 on January 25 vs Army and vs John Jay on January 31 a 547. She has really come into her own this season in both smallbore and air rifle.

Selina is a major reason that the USciences Womens Rifle Team has improved their performance this season. While maintaining a very good GPA Selina has still found time to volunteer at Mercy Philadelphia Hospital and the Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania, as well as working the Soup Kitchen at St. Agatha Chapel in Philadelphia. After graduation next year she intends to apply to medical school. Selina enjoys playing the guitar, swimming, Zen and learning new languages.